

47 KILLED IN UPRISING IN PHILIPPINES

Communists Who Want Independence Start Fight

Manila, May 3.—(AP)—Bloody outbreaks and disorders in a sudden uprising against the projected new Philippine commonwealth left a trail of at least 49 dead today in two provinces.

At least 47 were known dead in a clash between constabulary and the extremists at Cabuyao in Laguna province, southeast of here. One constabularyman and one Sakdalista were killed in fighting at San Ildefonso, Bulacan province, north of here, and five persons were reported killed at Santa Rosa in Laguna province.

The Sakdalistas favor immediate independence for the Philippines and oppose the leadership of senate president Manuel Quezon. Under the independence act of the American congress, the Philippines must go through a 10-year transitional period before obtaining freedom.

Plebiscite May 14. A plebiscite for ratification of the commonwealth constitution will be held May 14.

Order was restored at Cabuyao late today. The constabulary reported, only after bitter fighting in which 47 were killed and 40 more wounded. The casualty list was reported by Jose Desiderio, representative of the insular interior department.

Capt. Jose Guidio of the constabulary intelligence described the situation as "very grave" in a report to the Governor General's office. Reports showed the Sakdalistas, who officials charge have Communist leanings, actually controlled three towns for a short period during the night. These were Cabuyao and Santa Rosa and San Ildefonso.

Scattered disorders also occurred in Cavite province, south of here, where Acting Provincial Governor Ramon Samonte was held hostage several hours.

Hunted Old Glory Down. Extremists seized the municipal building at San Ildefonso and held it five hours during which they proclaimed "Philippine Independence" and hauled down the Stars and Stripes in favor of the Philippine emblem.

Expressing amazement at the suddenness and extent of the disorders, high government officials moved quickly to restore order. Authorities expressed no fear of an attack on Manila.

About 8,000 American and Philippine soldiers, stationed in and near Manila, always are available to augment the constabulary, which has 800 men stationed at the main barracks here.

Officers of the Day at United States military headquarters here were informed of the provincial disorders, as part of the routine procedure in such cases.

Constabulary officials declared some of the sakdalista rank and file recently contributed $150 each on representations the money could be used to obtain guns from Japan. The officers said the sakdalistas had been led to believe this sum would be sufficient to "rent" the firearms.

Japanese Consul General Atsushi Kimura quickly denied reports that the sakdal movement was Japanese backed, saying there were no grounds to support such assertion.

Sales Tax Collections Last Month Third Highest in State History

Springfield, Ill., May 3.—(AP)—April collections under the two per cent retail sales tax, announced today by the finance department, were the third highest since the law went into effect 21 months ago.

$3,531,231.43 was collected during April from retailers on their business of the previous month.

The department's records show that the only months during which the state received more from the sales tax were January, with $3,945,378.04 and last July with $3,549,729.33.

The Governor gave the delegates an attentive reception and they left much encouraged that their request will be given friendly consideration.

Enjoys Paper

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Hinds, 221 Monroe Ave., have received another interesting letter from their son Ferris, who is now en route to San Francisco on the Grace liner, S. S. Coya, from a voyage to Valparaiso, Chile. The letter was dated April 23 and was mailed from Beuna-ventura, Colombia. In it the young man said he had recently had the pleasure of meeting and visiting with Mrs. Alice Beede and family in Chanaral, Chile. He recorded spending a delightful evening with them at their home and enjoyed talking with them about Dixon and their friends so far away. He says the family is very prominent and influential "down there" and he hopes to visit them again. Before he left Mrs. Beede gave him a bundle of Dixon Evening Telegraphs, which he says he found immensely interesting.

Ferris will reach Frisco about May 12 and will then enter the U. S. Marine hospital there to receive treatment for a slightly disabled leg.

ST. BERNARD IS RAIL HORSE FOR SATURDAY DERBY

22 Thoroughbreds Entered in Churchill Downs' Classic

Louisville, Ky., May 3.—(AP)—Twenty-two thoroughbreds were entered today for tomorrow's sixty-first running of the Kentucky Derby before the entries closed at trainers and agents crowded into the secretary's office as soon as it opened this morning.

The entries included all the highly regarded eligibles, such favorites as C. V. Whitney's colt today, and Warren Wright's Nellie Flag from his Calumet farm and two eleven-hour surprises. They were color bearer, owned by Riley & Meeker, and Calumet Dick, a stable mate of Nellie Flag.

Out of the big field of 22 there was one filly, Nellie Flag, three geldings, Blackbird, Chancetree and McCarthy, and 18 colts, comprising practically all of the nation's best three-year-olds, save Chance Sun, winter book favorite which went lame in training.

The position next to the rail was drawn by St. Bernard. Today drew 19th place from the rail, and Nellie Flag, close to today as the favorite, drew 10th place.

Warning Issued Today Against Check Passers

Chief of Police J. D. Van Bibber today issued a warning to Dixon merchants and employees of business houses, calling attention to the passing of worthless checks. Two arrests have resulted during the past week from this offense and reports are coming to the police department daily of the practice. One merchant turned over to the chief this morning a worthless check in the amount of $17.48 which was passed last Saturday by a strange woman. Another woman attempted to cash checks at several places in Dixon yesterday afternoon without success. The offenses are being reported from Polo and Amboy and the warning urged merchants to use discretion in the cashing of checks presented by strangers as a means of halting the practice.

Jubilee College to be Preserved by Illinois

CHICAGO—Bishop George Craig Stewart said he had been informed by Governor Horner that Jubilee College, "Cradle of Episcopalianism" in Illinois, had been acquired by the state for preservation as an historic site. Philander Chase, first Episcopal bishop in Illinois, established the college near Peoria. Bishop Stewart will speak at the site May 21 as a feature of a pilgrimage there.

"Mighty Funny" Kidnaping of Two Communist Leaders, Occupies Attention Gallup, N. M. Authorities

Gallup, N. M., May 3.—(AP)—Wide flung law enforcement agencies, some openly skeptical and others obviously puzzled, began searching in a driving rain today for Robert Minor, New York Communist leader, and David Levinson, Philadelphia attorney, assertedly kidnaped by a band of hooded men. Chief of Police Presley Kelsey said he believed the disappearance of the two organizers of a defense for ten riot murder suspects was a "hoax."

Sheriff D. W. Roberts joined state police in a futile hunt over country highways before dawn for trace of the three cars which a woman associate of Minor and Levinson had described as being

ILLINOIS AND MISSISSIPPI RIVERS ROSE

Heavy Rainfalls Over Most of State Fill All Tributaries

Chicago, May 3.—(AP)—High waters in tributary streams and heavy rainfall raised Mississippi and Illinois river levels today. Reports from Canton and LaSalle, along the Illinois, told of flooded basements, while heavy rainfall at Davenport, Quincy, Louisiana, Mo., and Cairo foretold high waters along the Mississippi.

At Quincy, 2.18 inches of rain fell in the 24 hours ending at 7 o'clock this morning. Total for the last 48 hours was 3.71 inches. A rise for several days in the Mississippi was forecast, based on heavy rains to the north.

The Canton waterworks pumping station was filled with water and many basements were flooded as sewers were unable to carry the 2.5 inches of rain which fell between midnight and 6 o'clock today. Telephone and power lines were damaged.

Maximum at Peoria. The downpour reached its maximum at Peoria, where more than two and a half inches were recorded in 24 hours. At Davenport, Ia., the official reading was 1.92 inches. Cairo, Ill., had a fall of 1.44 inches. Springfield's precipitation totaled 1.20 inches and a little more than an inch fell in Chicago.

The storm swept into Chicago on a northwest wind that almost reached gale proportions. Brisk winds also accompanied the rains in other portions of the state.

Mercury in Low 30's. Temperatures around Chicago were in the low 30's, but downstate cities reported temperatures ranging from the middle 40's at Springfield to the upper 60's in Cairo.

Evansville, Waukegan, Morton Grove and Niles reported some snow fell during the day. A few flakes sifted down in the Chicago loop area.

Oak Hill and Edwards, near Peoria, were troubled with overflow water from Kickapoo creek, swollen by three days of rain. Some residents were driven from their homes as back water inundated basements.

SHOWERS KILL BUGS. Urbana, Ill.—Recent showers killed many chinch bugs. Prof. W. P. Flint, state natural history survey entomologist, reported, but others still in hibernation were expected to appear with warmer weather.

A very satisfactory advance sale for the banquet and Bob Becker lecture at the Dixon Elks club house Tuesday evening was reported today by President Don Ortleson of the Rock River Valley Rod & Gun Club. Several committees conducted a ticket sale throughout the business section yesterday. A large number of ladies are displaying a keen interest in the Becker lecture and have made reservations.

Shaw, Ward T. Miller, John E. Moyer and A. E. Simonson. The banquet to be served at 6:30 is in charge of Dr. Henry J. McCoy, John L. Davies and Rae Arnold. Attorney H. C. Warner will act as toastmaster at the program to follow, which will feature Becker's address which will be illustrated by motion pictures.

Boys' Play Netted Them Small Fortune

Baltimore, Md., May 3.—(AP)—The golden hoard Henry Grob and Theodore Jones disinterred from a musty cellar floor was split a hundred ways today, but the young lads had $23,000 to show for a few minutes' play.

The 3,558 old coins the boys unearthed last summer while burying records of their "club" were valued at $11,425, but collectors paid twice that much at auction yesterday.

The collectors get the coins today and all the two treasure finders have left is that unromantic $23,000.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY CAUSE OF FATAL SHOOTING

Taylorville, Ill., May 3.—(AP)—Mistaken identity was seen today as the cause of the shooting of Frank Markunas, 26, United Mine Workers Union member, by Ray Tombozzi, local Progressive Union leader. The two were strangers.

Tombozzi, who surrendered immediately after the shooting last night in front of the cafe where Markunas' wife is employed, was reported to have walked into Sheriff Ed Marvel's office and said: "I just shot 'Brig' Young."

He referred to Glenn Young, boss at Peabody mine No. 58, where UMW miners are employed. Witnesses told Sheriff Marvel and State's Attorney John Coale that no argument preceded the shooting. Markunas was unarmed when picked up.

Clarence Davis, a friend of Markunas, and Louis Francis, cook in the restaurant, said Tombozzi fired on Markunas after the latter followed him out of the cafe and called: "Hey, buddy, wait a minute; I want to talk to you."

Markunas was not expected to survive.

Limitation of Liberty by NRA Admitted by Richberg Before U.S. Supreme Court

Makes Admission Under Questioning by Two of Justices

Washington, May 3.—(AP)—A two-year extension of NRA was urged today by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor at a conference with President Roosevelt.

Headed by William Green, federation president, the delegation, accompanied by Secretary Perkins, called at the White House as the constitutionality of the recovery law was attacked and defended in the supreme court.

Speaker Byrns forecast that the house would approve NRA extension without particular difficulty and said he could see "no reason for limiting the extension to eight or nine months."

Continuance until next April 1 has been voted by the senate finance committee. Administration leaders are understood to want the two years.

Richberg Questioned. Questions from the supreme court bench brought from Donald R. Richberg, head of NRA, a statement that price-fixing in the automobile industry "limits the liberty of contract of two people."

Before one of the largest crowds ever assembled in the small courtroom, Richberg took up the government's argument to support the validity of the recovery act where Solicitor-General Stanley Reed left off yesterday.

The price-fixing angle, was not involved in the Schechter poultry case under argument, was brought up while Richberg was stressing that all codes were voluntary and had been drawn up by trade associations representing the majority of businesses in an industry.

"Such an agreement," interposed Justice Stone, considered one of the court's "liberals," "previous would have been considered a violation of fair trade practices, wouldn't it?"

"Not unless it involved restraint of trade," said Richberg.

"Involves Price Fixing." "If it involved price fixing it would," said Stone.

"I know of no code providing for price-fixing as a monopolistic practice," said Richberg. "How about the automobile code?" put in Justice Sutherland, a so-called "conservative."

Richberg said in that industry, only the trade-in price of used automobiles in the sale of new cars was fixed.

The NRA chieftain said this was intended to insure fair competition in the new car sales, but he pointed out that a used car owner could sell his car outright without being bound by the code.

"But it does prohibit the dealer and the owner from agreeing upon a price," said Sutherland, "and thus limits the liberty of contract between two people."

"Yes," said Richberg, smiling. "It does to that extent."

Sutherland said he realized the automobile code was not involved in the present case, but that he desired Richberg's views on the question.

Number of Lee County Families on Relief Rolls Decreased in April; Administrator Has Monthly Report

The entire staff at the Lee County Emergency Relief headquarters was marking time today awaiting some disposition of the future relief program in the county. County Administrator W. C. Van Laningham announced that there were sufficient funds on hand to permit operation until Monday or Tuesday of next week, but not for a much longer period. It was expected weather permitting, the county-wide distribution of federal food would be resumed today, and that a large amount of meat on hand would be delivered by truck direct to the clients' homes.

Administrator Van Laningham had completed his report for the month of April which contained some interesting figures. The report showed that at the end of March there were a total of 744 families on relief in Lee county, and that this figure dropped to 655 at the beginning of May.

Salaries in the county relief offices totaled $1,503.50 for the month of April, the administrator's report showed. Other varied administrative expenses amounted to $503.62 which brought the total of the administration expense to $2,007.12. Rental for the Dixon county headquarters amounting to $50 per month and the Amboy office amounting to $10 for the month, is paid by Lee county and this expense is not charged against the relief administration, it was explained.

The total administration expense for the month of April, including salaries, and all administrative expenses totaled $17,153.88. Administrator Van Laningham's report showed.

DEATH RODE ON SOUTHERN STORM

Arkansas, Kentucky and Indiana Were Swept by Severe Winds

Little Rock, Ark., May 3.—(AP)—Six more deaths were reported today from the Arkansas storm area where five persons already had been listed as "known dead."

The latest deaths were reported from Mississippi county. Additional persons injured were estimated at 50. 10 already having been reported from the districts struck by the terrific wind and electrical storm. The property loss was heavy.

Louisville, Ky., May 3.—(AP)—Furious wind storms accompanied by lightning that killed three persons and drenching rains spent themselves eastward today after spreading damage over sections of western Kentucky and southern Indiana. Churchill Downs, where thoroughbreds are on edge for the Kentucky Derby tomorrow, was undamaged, but the sensitive animals were excited by the thunder and lightning.

More than 100 homes and some 50 business buildings in Louisville, decked out in its best dress for the Derby, were unroofed. Power lines and trolley cables were severed. Part of Louisville, a half dozen nearby towns and Frankfort, the state capital, were without lights.

Lightning caused the three Kentucky fatalities. C. C. Bennett, 50, and Malcolm Flanagan, 31, were killed under a tree on Bennett's Henderson county farm. Thomas Spencer, 19, was hit on the neck by a bolt near Kevil, Ballard county.

Gale winds damaged stores and homes in Hopkinsville, Ky. Four garages were blown away there. The city was cut off from other towns for several hours.

One Louisville telephone exchange was paralyzed. Some lines in others were reported out of order.

Charles Scholl Prays Appeal of Breach of Contract in Oregon

An appeal from the findings of a jury in the Ogle county circuit court this week in the suit brought by Max Bassman against Charles W. Scholl, both of Polo, Ill., will be argued before Judge Frank J. Sheehan at Oregon Monday. The suit was based on an alleged breach of contract in the purchase of a quantity of hay.

Through an error, the Telegraph stated that Fred Scholl was the defendant in the action.

In calling the docket Wednesday afternoon Judge Sheehan set down for trial Monday the trial of Ira Page, Grand Detour farmer, charged with assault with a deadly weapon. The true bill returned against Page by the January grand jury in Ogle county charged that he attacked Frank Simone, a Rockford resident, at the Page farm, on October 6, 1934.

APPEAL POSSIBLE. Washington, May 3.—(AP)—A possibility that the government may appeal directly to the supreme court the Cleveland court decision denying an injunction to prevent a merger of the Republic and Corbin-McKinney steel companies was suggested today by attorneys in the Justice department's anti-trust division.

Aides of Attorney General Cummings said definite decision on the appeal would be made later. An appeal direct to the high court would be possible, government attorneys said, because of the nature of the case, which is an anti-trust action in equity brought by the government.

Sleet - Snow

Cold rain, which fell on this section of the state during almost the entire night, turned to sleet at an early hour this morning and then to saturated snow, which continued intermittently during the day. The snow melted as quickly as it struck the ground, but it plastered itself on automobile windshields so heavily that wipers were unable to keep the glass clean and motorists were forced to stop frequently to restore clear vision. An inch of rain fell here during the night and the temperature dropped to the freezing point.

J. H. Hersam recalls, in connection with today's storm, that in 1912 he was told by Jack Potter of Rapids City, S. D., with whom he was then doing business, that on May 28th of that year a blizzard had swept South Dakota and that he (Potter) had lost 56 head of horses in the storm. Potter stated it had been an early spring and he had turned the animals out long enough before the storm for them to shed their winter coats of hair.

FEDERAL COURT APPROVES HUGE UNION IN STEEL

Merge of Two Cleveland Companies is Biggest in Years

Cleveland, May 3.—(AP)—A federal court decision virtually assured today the consummation of the biggest steel merger in years—a $336,000,000 union of the Republic Steel Corporation and the Corbin-McKinney Steel Company.

The decision given by Federal Judge Fred M. Raymond of Grand Rapids, Mich., denied an injunction asked by the Department of Justice which contended the merger would violate the Clayton anti-trust act. It was not immediately determined whether the department would appeal.

Judge Raymond in his decision said the injunction was denied because the government failed to show that the merger would substantially reduce competition in the steel industry.

Attorneys for the companies had claimed it would increase rather than diminish competition, on the ground that the combined company would be stronger and better equipped to vie with other and larger companies.

With relief stations closed, with federal authorities insisting there will be no resumption of relief until Illinois has provided the $5,000,000 monthly Hopkins has demanded, administration forces were checking and rechecking house roll calls in an effort to find the 14 votes they failed to muster Wednesday night.

Six Democrats Foes. The roll call showed that all but six of the 84 Democrats in the house voted for the bill.

Three Democrats voted against it and are expected to do the same when it is again up for passage. They are Frank McClure of Abingdon, C. D. Franz of Freeport and Frank Fries of Carlinville.

Three Democrats were not recorded. They are James T. Burns of Kankakee, Ill. in a hospital, who had sent word that if he were able to present he would vote against the bill; Howard J. Gorman of Peoria, who didn't answer roll call Thursday, but has said he would vote against it when it is next considered; and Glen Peterson of Virginia, who has seldom voted for any administration sponsored legislation.

In seeking the 14 votes the administration can count little on any of the six Democrats who refused to support it Wednesday.

Six Republican legislators did not vote either way, all from Cook county, where consequences arising from the present relief situation are feared more than in downstate communities. The administration is counting on winning a few votes from these six.

EVERYDAY LIVING
By Joseph Fort Newton

"HAPPILY ever after" is the way the old fairy-stories ended, which was perhaps well if the children were to be packed to bed, "clean and sweet and their prayers said," as a poet put it.

It is all very nice, but unbroken happiness is too good to be true, as unrelieved tragedy is too evil to endure. The fact is that life is meant to be tragic but also to have a happy ending.

Life is not all joy or all woe but a motley scene in which the two are woven together, often in the strangest fashion, and we can hardly disentangle them—they are so entwined and twisted.

Often, when a writer tells a tragic story, he adds an epilogue. As if to say that, though the theme of his tragedy is ended there is still something to be said—as Shaw did at the end of "Saint Joan."

Two critics have been debating a motion picture. One said it was spoiled by a happy ending; and the other argued that if it had not had a happy ending the public would have had none of it.

The second critic is right in one way, the public in another. When people demand a happy ending they are really protesting against a morbid view of life which they instinctively feel to be false.

They want to hear about happiness because they want to be happy. Yet the critic is right too. There are certain actions, beliefs, motives and traits of character lead inevitably to unhappy endings; and the truth is distorted if they are made to work out happily.

It may be argued that the way to have a happy ending is to make sure of a happy beginning, since no man ever got lost on a straight road. Let truth, honesty, fidelity be our motives and all is well.

But it is not always so in the drama of life, unless by a happy ending we mean that, even though tried by tragic accidents, a man is happy if he keeps his integrity even if he loses his life.

In this view the life of Jesus had a happy ending, despite the ghastly cross—since he endured as one who saw beyond the shadow.

Roma Breimer and Geo. S. Ives Jr. Married More Than Year

Announcement of their marriage December 11, 1933, was made Saturday evening by Mr. and Mrs. George S. Ives Jr. Mrs. Ives, formerly Miss Roma Breimer, was the winner of the County Life Insurance Illinois State Beauty Contest in August, 1933, after having been awarded first prize in the Lee County contest held here in January, 1933.

Keeping their marriage a secret for more than a year, Mr. and Mrs. Ives announced it to relatives Saturday evening just before leaving for Chicago to spend the week end. The wedding was performed at the Methodist parsonage in Abingdon, Ill., by Rev. H. E. Nelson, pastor of the church. They were unattended.

Mrs. Ives is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Breimer who reside about nine miles northwest of Amboy on U. S. Route 52, near the St. James church. She was graduated from Amboy Township high school in the class of 1933 and last autumn attended Burnham's Beauty College in Chicago. ## Meeting of E. R. B. Class Thursday Eve

The E. R. B. class of St. Paul's Lutheran church assembled at the home of Dr. and Mrs. F. B. Jones Thursday evening with a good attendance, despite the disagreeable weather, twenty-three members and several visitors being present.

Mrs. Jones read the Scripture lesson after the opening song. Miss Eleanor Powell led in prayer. After another song the minutes were read by the secretary and a fine report by the treasurer was given. After discussion of some business, the class prayed the Lord's Prayer, bringing the meeting to a close, a program following, the first number of which was a duet by Frances Jones and Shirley Cooper, singing "Mother Loe and The Shepherd."

This double number was greatly enjoyed. Miss Rilla Webster gave two readings, in a charming manner. The Radio Fan, and Liping Eliza, both very amusing. A guessing game was then played to try the skill of those present. Very tempting refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Florence Stewart, Mrs. Letitia Jones, Mrs. Margaret Crist, and Miss Ida Ware. A happy evening was enjoyed by all.

GREAT MOTHERS

Mary Ball Washington

THE girl who was to become the mother of George Washington was something of a belle in her native colony, Virginia. Mary Ball, descended from a good English family, was called "the rose of Epping Forest" in her girlhood, Epping Forest being the name of the Ball homestead. Orphaned early, she had as her guardian George Eskridge, a wealthy Virginia planter.

At twenty-two, Mary Ball married (on March 6, 1730) Augustine Washington, then a widower with two little boys. Her first child she named George after her old family friend. Five other children were born of this marriage, four of whom survived. When Augustine Washington died, she was left with a brood of youngsters to care for. George was then only eleven. Fortunately, however, the husband had provided for them amply. His wealth consisted mostly of land, and in order to produce the requisite income, it had to be carefully managed. Mrs. Washington seems to have had plenty of practical sense. Alone, she brought up her family and saw them all successfully settled in life.

George Washington was still a young boy when he became possessed of a great desire to be a midshipman. His mother had been halfhearted about this plan at all times, but finally (so the story goes) when his sea-chest was being carried down to the wharf by a porter, she refused to let him go. He accepted her decision with good grace and he followed himself to surviving instead. His activities in the next years often took him far away from her and gradually prepared him for the great role he was to play in American history.

Mary Ball Washington was sixty-eight when the Revolution began. Since communication was then so primitive, she often did not know for months at a time whether her son was alive or dead. Yet she maintained outward calm and courage. One of her sayings was, "The mothers and wives of brave men must be brave women." The members of her household knew, though, that every day she went off by herself with her Bible to a quiet spot called Meditation Rock. At last Cornwallis surrendered in 1781 and the Revolution was won.

Tomorrow: Nancy Hanks Lincoln.

Mrs. Harry Edwards chairman of the Music Festival Committee was most fortunate in being able to secure the services of two very talented artists. Miss Beatrice Shabacker and Miss Anne Walton who will act as judges. They are members of the Mendelssohn Club of Rockford.

Last year the Club sponsored the Festival, which proved a very great success, so much so, that this year it was thought best to use both afternoon and evening in which to give the musicians a chance to appear.

It will be especially interesting to know that all talent is local. Dixon has some real artists and this will be a very good opportunity for the public to hear them. They deserve our help and encouragement, so the club hopes to have an enthusiastic audience to greet them at each performance.

Many of the orchestras, choir and singing ensembles will appear together with instrumental and voice solo work.

As an added feature this year the club will give first and second prize ribbons in each class to the prize winning contestants.

The committee in charge is Mrs. Harry Edwards, chairman; Mrs. John Ralston, Mrs. Elizabeth Jenks and Mrs. Howard Edwards. Mrs. Ralston delightfully entertained at her home with a tea for the committee and judges after the "try-out" at the high school.

Exercises for Closing Prairieville Schl. Thursday, Enjoyable

Prairieville school closed Thursday, May 2. At noon the children and the teachers enjoyed a treat of ice cream and wafers in addition to their lunch.

The closing program given at 8 P. M. was in three parts. Part one, given by the pupils of the grammar room, was accompanied and directed by their teacher, Edna Pine.

Song—"Morning Invitation"

Play, "The Prince and the Pat-ters"—

The Prince..... Myron Lawrence

Bopps..... John Drury

Polly Patter..... Eileen Mae Bradley

Other Patter children—Marian

Reaves, Alverda Long, Ruth Man-

on, Gladys Mae Wechsler, Wayne

Friedrichs, Leo Manon, Edwin

Lauts, Kenneth Wechsler.

The Hours—Stanley Parks, El-

lene Long, Arlene Wechsler, Evelyn Parks, Eileen Jennings, Gilbert

Parks.

In the first scene of this jolly one-act comedy all the little Patters except Polly, were going to see the Prince. There was a gay time as Polly got them ready, for each Patter made mischief in his own way. The baby, Dottie, got her "greeting" to the Prince all tangled up with Mother Goose. In a brief interlude amusing "Hours" told what happened and what didn't happen, for the Prince never came! In the second scene it was supper time and the Prince appeared. He had been hunting in all the homes for children to play with but no one was at home. The Prince wanted to be a regular boy and he got his wish, for Polly didn't know him and neither did the others.

But Bopps, his pompous guardian, appeared and almost spoiled the fun. In the end, however, everyone was happy and Dottie was still tugging up Mother Goose.

Song, "O'er the River."

In Part two the primary room presented a May fete in two scenes. Both scenes were laid in the forest. Each child in the room took part and made of it a varied and colorful selection. The cast was as follows:

Babes in the Woods.....

Marion Reed, Lawrence Duprey

The Firefly..... Carolyn Duprey

Chinese Girl..... Ethel Parks

Girl of Hungary..... Amanda Hippen

Dutch Couple.....

Beatrice Jennings, Eddie Manon

Highland Lassie..... Helen Becke

Irish Colleens.....

Loretta Overcash, Ethel Wechsler

American girl..... Fern LeFevre

fitahgy ETAONNN

Indian boys—George Mannon,

Eugene Jennings, Elwyn Long,

George Parks, Lawrence Duprey.

The festival ended with the traditional Maypole dance and a farewell song sung around the skillfully wound pole. The fete was arranged and accompanied by Miss Aline Detweiler, the primary room teacher. Before and after the festival Elva Lawrence and Marion Reed played piano solos, "I See You," and "The Little Bunny."

Part three:

Play, "Buried Treasure"—Boys

of the seventh and eighth grades:

Cap..... Warren Friedrichs

Skinny..... Lowell Wechsler

Chips..... Kenneth Long

Fat.....

The boys came prepared to dig up the loot of a bank in the old garden. They were regular "fellers" but it was Fat who had to carry the spade and do the digging. Fat could "take it" even when they jeered at his lawyer-

MARY BALL WASHINGTON

Ever mindful of his mother's anxiety for him, Washington sent off a courier at once to hear the news. As soon as his affairs permitted, he followed, and mother and son met again for the first time in seven years.

Mary Ball Washington lived to be over eighty, mentally keen and unfailingly cheerful. She died in 1789, the year her son was elected first President of the United States.

This is the first of a series of biographies of "Great Mothers" prepared by the Golden Rule Mothers Day Committee, of which Mrs. James Roosevelt is honorary chairman. The Committee, which is sponsoring the nation-wide observance of Mothers Day "the Golden Rule Way" on Sunday, May 12, suggests the following paraphrase of the Golden Rule: "Whatever you would that others should do for your mother if she were in need, and whatever your mother would do for the needy if she had opportunity, do on Mothers Day for other mothers and children, victims of present-day economic maladjustments." An illustrated booklet of similar biographical sketches, poems, and tributes to mothers may be had for five for shipping charges, from the Golden Rule Mothers Day Committee, 60 East 42nd Street, New York.

Tomorrow: Nancy Hanks Lincoln.

"The Cross Roads Store," May 14-15

The various members of the cast who are to take part in the musical comedy entitled, "The Cross Roads Store" which is to be staged at the Dixon Masonic Temple, have started rehearsals. This play, which is being staged and acted by members of Dorothy Chapter, O. E. S., under the direction of Mrs. Chas. Bishop, is probably the most amusing comedy that has been presented to Dixon people in recent years.

The principal characters who carry out the comedy plot were carefully selected and each is particularly well fitted for the part which they are to take. The setting, a cross roads store, provides opportunity for an endless amount of fun as each of the actors appear. In cities where this play has been produced, the press reports have invariably referred to it as one of the most riotous comedies ever written.

There will be a ten cent matinee for children under fifteen years of age on Tuesday afternoon, May 14th at 4 P. M. and there will be two evening performances the first on Tuesday, May 14th, at 8:15 and on Wednesday, May 15th at 8:15. A special stage and some very amusing scenery will be erected in the big ball room. The tickets are being distributed through members of Dorothy Chapter and the sale has already assured the officers of the success of this venture in the theatrical field.

The graduates this year are: Eileen Mae Bradley, Warren Friedrichs, Marian Reaver, Kenneth Long, Lowell Wechsler and Myron Lawrence.

The graduation exercises are to be held Thursday evening, May 9, at the Prairieville church.

Prairieville school has had a most successful year and has again maintained its rating as a Superior Elementary School.

Eckert-Hoey Wedding Celebrated

A beautiful home wedding took place Wednesday evening when Miss Mary Jane Eckert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Eckert, 217 North Galena Avenue, became the bride of Arthur Hoey, son of Mrs. Maude Hoey.

Reverend L. E. Conner, pastor of the Church of God, read the impressive marriage service in the presence of a few relatives and friends, the home being fragrant with spring flowers.

The winsome bride made a pretty picture in her wedding gown of poudre blue, with white accessories, carrying an arm bouquet of Tailsman roses.

Miss Mary Frances McClintock, was the maid of honor, and Emil Tappanier, a cousin of the bride, was the best man.

The maid of honor wore a pretty gown in yellow, and carried pastel colored carnations, her accessories being in white.

After the ceremony a three course dinner was served at the home, the nicely appointed table being decorated in pink and white.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoey will be at home to their friends at 421 Naeuh-sa Avenue, after May 15th. Their many friends will unite in extending best wishes to them for happiness. The bride has been the recipient of many pre-nuptial courtesies, showers, etc., and the young couple have received many lovely gifts.

Both are popular and estimable young folks with a wide circle of friends.

AS SCIENCE ADVANCES, WILL WE, ALSO?

Trying to figure out what the future is going to be like is always good clean fun, and it is especially attractive if you are more or less dissatisfied with the present. And when you are doing your figuring, you can hardly do better than get a chemist to help you.

For an imaginative chemist can see things that would stump a Jules Verne or an H. G. Wells. He can show us a future that is like a magic wonderland; and—which is more to the point—he can also persuade us that he knows what he is talking about.

Thomas Midgley, Jr., chairman of the board of the American Chemical Society, took a little flier into the future at a recent convention of chemists in New York. He foresaw some startling things.

A century from now, he predicted, the discovery of new sources of energy will have made inter-planetary travel possible. It will also have revolutionized industry to such extent that two hours will be the maximum length of the working day. Such maladies as cancer, influenza, and epidemic diseases generally will be abolished.

This, he added, was only a starter. We shall be raising chickens the size of pigs and they will be laying eggs the size of footballs. People won't go to war any more, because defensive weapons will be strong enough to make any offensive impossible.

Television will be perfected to such an extent that delegates to national conventions will attend by staying right in their own homes—which ought to be a break, in several ways.

All this adds up to something remarkably like a pipe dream. But the odd thing about it is that none of these predictions is impossible. A century from now Mr. Midgley may look like an exceedingly conservative and cautious prophet. In the material world, the race is able to do just about anything that it can imagine.

And that emphasizes the strange new condition under which the race is laboring these days. Its greatest problems are no longer connected with the struggle to master the physical environment; they have to do with the intangibles—things like economics, social organizations, and international relations.

We know, nowadays, that eventually we shall abolish disease and hunger and all manner of scarcity, and that we can equip ourselves with almost any kind of mechanical gadget that seems desirable. The big question is what we are going to do with ourselves after we make those advances.

Shall we learn how to get along together so that they all make the life of the average human being happier, freer and richer? Can we adjust ourselves to an age in which the only problem will be the problem of human relationships?

MORE ROOM FOR PLAY

Importance of playgrounds and other recreation centers in American cities is illustrated by the current report of the National Recreation Association.

This report shows that 5,000,000 children used public playgrounds regularly last summer, and that municipal recreation centers for young people and adults were used by more than 1,600,000 people. Playground baseball teams gave recreation to more than 600,000 young men; playground tennis courts served just less than 1,000,000 people.

The thing to notice is that the facilities we have are not nearly extensive enough. The association reports that 10,000,000 city children are still without playgrounds, and that neighborhood playing fields are only about 30 per cent adequate.

While we are spending public funds on non-profit-making projects, this great need of playgrounds and recreation facilities must not be overlooked.

INDIAN IN DANGER

Another move to restore the spoils system in the Indian bureau seems to be under way in Washington. A resolution has been introduced in Congress to provide that the superintendent of the five civilized tribes in Oklahoma be appointed by the president with Senate approval—thus making the post senatorial patronage once again.

Should such resolutions pass, one qualification for the man named to this job, of course, would be that he be a "deserving Democrat." And with this as an entering wedge, it probably would not be long before most of the other key jobs in the Indian bureau were similarly filled by party hacks.

We have given the Indian a raw deal in this country for years. The least we can do now is to see that the Indian bureau is kept on an efficient, non-political basis. Party politicians should be forced to keep their hands off.

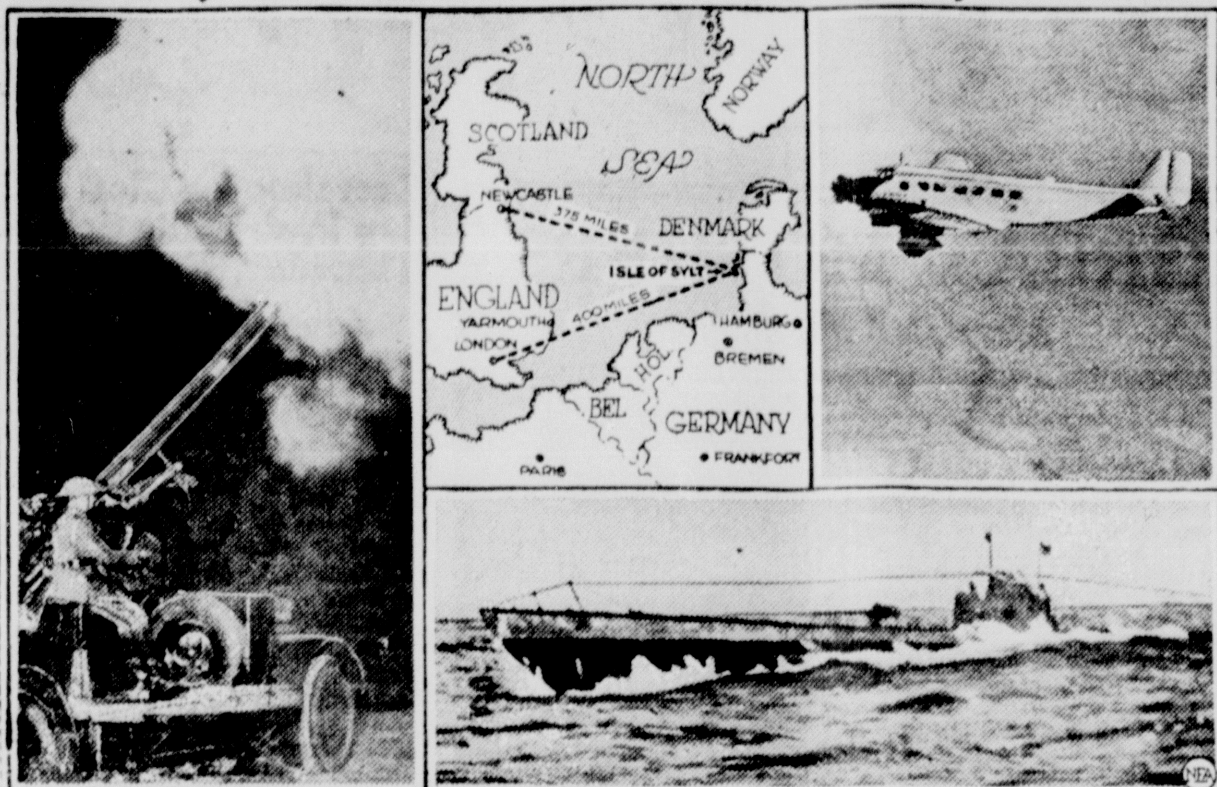

All we have to show for administration schemes is the greatest debt the country ever had, shattered confidence, and a federal government waterlogged with ward politicians.

The Stock Exchange exists because it fills a vital need and because it is equipped to render service. Charles R. Gay, on being nominated as Exchange president.

Women are not all bandwagon voters. But most of them are. I've been in politics 49 years and I know. Representative Walter M. Pierce, Oregon.

Unless our government now begins to curtail its reckless spending, this country will be in a stinking mess. Roger Babson.

Germany Reveals Threats From Sea, Sky and Land

Dread that recalls the dark days of near-famine in the submarine blockade of 1917 stirs again in England, with Germany's blunt announcement that she has built 12 powerful new U-boats, breaking treaty shackles, and further revelation that the Reich has a new flying and naval base on the Isle of Sylt. The map indicates the short distance planes and subs would travel to reach the French and British coasts. At the left is Britain's answer to the air menace, an anti-aircraft gun in action near Aldershot, where the air defense brigade trains with all the latest equipment for detecting and combating invasion from the sky. At the right, above a sub nosing up from the sea, is a Junkers plane, easily convertible into a German bomber.

GOOD THOUGHTS

Let us all value education. Let us all appreciate it as something more than mere knowledge because after all, knowledge is a sort of outward ornament. The education that is real, is the education that means our being of finer temper, more adaptable, more flexible. Let us assimilate knowledge until it becomes ourselves, showing itself in character, reliability, straightforwardness. That is the end of education.

—Ramsay MacDonald.

Nothing which is learned in youth is so really valuable as the power and the habit of self-restraint, self-sacrifice, of energetic, continuous and concentrated effort.

—W. E. H. Lecky.

Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore get wisdom; and with all thy getting get understanding.

—Proverbs 4.

The implanting of the love for truth as the opposite of error and direct falsehood, is surely one of the greatest contributions that education can make. With the love of truth often goes the love of freedom, and these two loves together are capable of inspiring and directing the most efficient human lives. That is a wonderful prophecy in John 8:32: "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free."

—Charles W. Elliot.

Jesus, the Great Teacher, is the one Philosopher who can offer men the way to attain equality, equanimity and success in individual enterprise. Here is the one Teacher who has ever been able to practice with entire success what He taught. Modern youth may study His teachings without danger to themselves or their neighbors.

(READ THE STORY THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"Hey! Swim for shore," we heard. "I have the girls here, by my side. I will see that they get safely in. Then we will be all right."

"Our pirate chief has reached there, now. I suppose that he will start a row because our raft tipped over. Oh, we are in an awful plight."

Then Doty said, "Don't fret about me. I swim real well alone, you see." "And so do I," cried we. "Thanks, but I don't need your help."

With easy strokes, she moved along. The current wasn't one bit strong. Then Duncy started every one, when he began to yelp.

"A fish is nibbling at my toes. How I can stand it, goodness knows. It tickles like the dickens. Gee, I wish I was ashore."

"Aw, kick your legs," snapped Doty. "You should know that is the thing to do. You will swim much faster. That is what your legs and arms are for."

Soon everyone was safe and sound. The pirate stood and looked around. "Well, tots," he loudly shouted. "We are stranded here."

"However, we will be all right. We will find a place to sleep tonight, and then we will think up some good way to get out of this mess."

"You tots can sleep beneath a tree, but that is not good enough for me. I will let you build a fine shelter, underneath which I will snooze."

"Now, gather limbs and weeds and such. It really will not take so much. It is drawing near to night time, and there is little time to lose."

The Tinsies, just a bit afraid, agreed that if the thing was made, they'd be safe from the pirate's wrath. They did as they were told.

The pirate watched them at their task and shortly said "Now, all I ask, is that you make it nice and warm, so I will not catch cold."

(Scouty gets a happy hunch in the next story.)

NELLIE FLAG CALLED BEST DERBY FILLY

Shows More Spunk Than Masculine Entrants

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
Louisville, Ky., May 3 — (AP)—The approach of another Kentucky Derby, the sixty-first and by far the stormiest since the epochal year A. D. 1929, today finds one intriguing question, above all others, absorbing the best and most masterful minds of our horse-racing fraternity.

To give this serious subject a light and frivolous touch, the issue concerns the ability of a lady of unquestioned thoroughbred class to kick mud in the eyes of 15 or more blue-blooded gentlemen, right out in full view of perhaps 60,000 horse racing addicts, gathered to witness the running of America's most colorful classic for three-year-olds.

In short, can Nellie Flag, strapping granddaughter of Man O'War who was the best filly of 1934 and has returned to the races this year with smashing success, overcome the handicap of sex and precedent sufficiently to whip a somewhat ordinary field of colts tomorrow afternoon in heavy going over the mile and a quarter route at historic Churchill Downs?

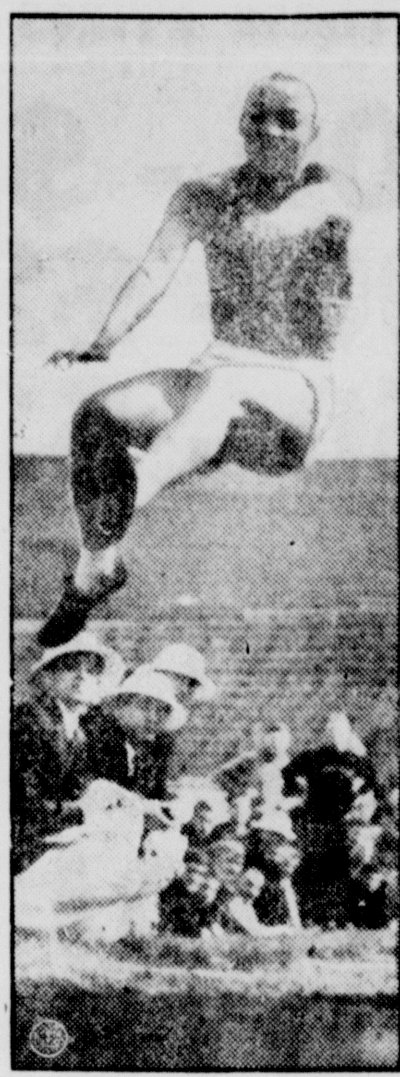

Odds seem against her. On the face of it, the odds seem to be 50 to 1 against Nellie. Only one filly in the past sixty years has shown the way home in the Derby. That was Regret in 1915, as most everyone should know, and only one other racing mare, Lady of Navarre in 1906, was able to do as well as second place. Still fresh in mind are the high hopes placed in the chances last year of two other true queens of the turf, Mata Hari and Bazaar, but the best either could show was fourth place money after it was all over and the mighty Cavalcade had run his field into the ground.

But there's no Cavalcade in the 1935 Derby ranks and Nellie Flag, the experts insist, is a lady of sturdier fiber if not greater racing class than any filly that has ever gone to the post in quest of the blue ribbon of the blue grass country. Not only was she the best of her sex as a two year old, topped in winnings last year only by the ill-fated colt, Chance Sun, departed favorite of the winter books, but she proved her courage and racing qualities in fast company as a three year old. She ruled second choice in the betting today, at no more than 5 to 1, and it appeared altogether possible she may displace Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney's colt, Today, as the book favorite by the time the Derby field is called to the post.

Moreover, Nellie has worked as impressively as any horse that has been seen on the Downs track, including a mile under stout restraint yesterday in 1:40, and she likes to run in the mud, of which there should be plenty.

It not only rained but it thundered and poured yesterday, morning afternoon and night. Upwards of

KANGAROO LEAP

Hurling his dusky body through space with the speed of a bullet, Jesse Owens, Ohio State sprinter and broad jumper, set a new American record in the latter event by leaping 26 feet 1 3/4 inches at the Drake Relays, Des Moines, Ia. Owens, shown above in his record leap, missed breaking the world record by only 3/4 inch.

four inches of rain have fallen in less than 24 hours. Some streets were so flooded last night that it looked like carnival time in old Venice instead of Derby time in old Louisville. With the track a quagmire, it seems certain to be the muddest Derby since Clyde Van Dusen, the diminutive son of Man O'War, came down the stretch with a winning rush while lightning flashed through the storm clouds six years ago. Perhaps the elements again will contribute a victorious obligato for another descendant of the super-horse.

Who's Her Rival? Perhaps, we repeat, but the echo answers: "Who's going to beat Nellie home?" There's plenty of horse sense by which to discount the chances of Warren Wright's chestnut filly, big and strong though she seems to be, but it is also a bit capricious trying to find the colt capable of meeting Nellie's challenge.

Two sons of famous fathers, Today and Omaha, may be the answer. Their respective daddies, Whirlone and Gallant Fox, were great three-year-old rivals in 1930. Gallant Fox won the Derby that year, with Earl Sande up, and went on to become one of the big money-winners of all time.

Today became the favorite for this year's classic after a brilliant triumph last Saturday in the Wood Memorial at Jamaica but that was a shorter race and there's some question whether the Vanderbilt star can carry its speed over the Derby route. Omaha's finishing qualities and liking for a distance combine to make William Woodward's entry a standout but the colt is a slow starter, runs awkwardly and has a habit of getting bumped around.

WHITE SOX, REDS PROVING ANCIENT RULE

Sox Skimmed Cream Of Rookie Crop; Reds Use 'Em

It seems to be an almost unbreakable rule in baseball that youth must be served—especially in the early spring. That goes a long way toward explaining the positions of the Chicago White Sox and Cincinnati Reds in the current major league standings as well as a number of other April surprises.

The White Sox, running a close second to Cleveland in the American League, appear to have skimmed the cream of this season's rookie crop with Vernon Washington, hitting .305, Ray Radcliff in the outfield, and John Whitehead on the mound winning his first three games in fine style.

Cincinnati's freshmen haven't been so impressive at the plate—Lew Riggs tops them with a .286 average—but either their inspiration or the realization that they have to battle for their regular jobs has started a few of the veterans toward comebacks. It has helped to put the Reds into the first division scrap.

Reds Use Rookies In the number of rookies playing daily the Reds still are at the top. Riggs, Billy Myers and Alex Kampanis, who scarcely has graduated from the recruit class, are in the infield, Ival Goodman on the outer line, Bill Campbell catching and Gene Schott and Al Hollingsworth taking their turns on the mound.

Recruits and veterans alike were scheduled to meet new and perhaps stiffer tests with the opening of the first east-west rounds in both leagues.

Yesterday's three game program was a washout as rain and cold halted the New York-Brooklyn and Philadelphia-Boston games in the National League and Detroit—St. Louis in the American.

STATE HOSPITAL SCOUTS REPEAT THEIR SHOW

Dixon State Hospital Troop 59 again presented the musical comedy "Peanuts and Pennies" yesterday afternoon in the amusement hall, to an audience of Dixon Boy Scout troops and troops from Prairieville, East Jordan, and Davis Junction. The troop staged the play for the patients last week.

In addition to the musical play, stunts and games were played by the troops present under the direction of Harold G. Boltz, Lee-Ogle county field executive.

The story of "Peanuts and Pennies" deals with a thrifty lad, Jack who saved his money to buy a bicycle while his companions spent all their pennies for candy and peanuts. One day while the boys were walking in the woods, one of Jack's companions suffered a very serious accident and his life was saved only by the timely action of Jack who pedaled to the nearest doctor on his bicycle and brought him back in time to save the boy's life. Thereafter the other boys perceived the value of thrift and started a thrift campaign.

BUSH DENIES HE PRECIPITATED CUB BALL RIOT

Guy Has Own Version of Recent Trouble at Wrigley Field

Pittsburgh, May 3 — (AP)—Lanky Guy Bush, now hurling for the Pittsburgh Pirates but late of the Chicago Cubs, is telling his own story of this week's famous Chicago battle which sent Guy and some other Corsairs and Cubs to the showers.

Back to home base after the west trip, Bush foregathered with other Pirates in a talkfest and proceeded to debunk his part in the melee which involved a goodly number of ball players on the Cubs' lot. Salient parts of Guy's statements were:

That Bill Jurgens of the Cubs and Cookie Lavagetto of the Pirates hit first; that Bush did not rush precipitately into the mixup; that Bush did not cut Roy Joiner's face with a blow but Joiner was cut by a fingernail of Coach Jewel Ems of the Pirates as he tried to push Joiner away.

Argue About Mixup "Let's get this thing from the start," said Guy, and went on: "As Lavagetto slid into second base Jurgens received the ball from the outfield. For no reason at all Jurgens kicked one of his feet at Cookie but missed. He kicked again, ripping Lavagetto's stocking. Cookie got up angry and they had words and the first thing we knew Jurgens swung at him and Cookie gave it right back at him.

"In an instant the field was swarming with players who separated the two.

"I want you to make this plain. I wasn't the first to leave the bench as some papers said, nor the last, but I was in the final group that walked out to see what was going on. Everything seemed to calm down x x x when a player in a white uniform (Chicago) said something and immediately fists began popping all around."

The big hurler ended with the assertion that "I defended myself and will do it again any time."

National Softball Year Opens May 14; Six Team League Includes Dixon

Knack Will Sponsor Team; Rules Are Ironed Out

Walter Knack, Dixon sports enthusiast, definitely decided to enter a team in the Rock Valley National Softball league, at a meeting held in the Sterling Y. M. C. A. at Sterling last night. Six towns signified their decision to join the loop.

Representatives from Sterling, Dixon, Rock Falls, Tampico, Erie, Morrison, Freeport and Prophetstown were present. At a preliminary meeting held last Saturday, indications pointed to an eight team league including these towns. Last night however, Erie definitely dropped out explaining distance to travel, and conflict with duties of the players most of whom were farmers, would hamper their loop activities if they entered. Morrison hesitated to enter, fearing a lack of players, but finally entered tentatively pending further conferences with prospective team members. Tampico's representatives objected to the long trip to Freeport, expressed fears of inability to meet competition, and lack of players. Sterling, Rock Falls, and Prophetstown entered unconditionally.

Inquires About Salaries Before accepting a berth in the circuit, Knack inquired about the cost of a diamond, and salaries of the two umpires for officiating the games. E. I. Lehr, president of the league, who presided and held the floor, explained that expenses in 1934 generally included $2.50 for each of two officials per game, a new ball each game, and 50c each for two ticket agents at the gate, the whole expense amounting on the average to approximately $8.50 a game. He explained sponsors generally figured on enough financial remuneration on the home diamond to pay for the trips of their respective teams.

In discussing pay for the players, the constitution of the National Softball league was referred to for reference. An article in the constitution specifically states that no player is allowed to receive compensation from the franchise holder, and that if this provision is violated, the player is to be disbanded and the sponsor loses his franchise.

Contact with Polo, Lanark and Mt. Carroll was suggested in order to form an eight team league if possible provided Erie and Tampico remained adamant in their refusal to enter. Freeport and Dixon representatives offered to attend to that matter.

5 Per Cent Deposit Ruled Out The deposit of five per cent of the gross gate receipts to the league treasurer was ruled out, and a motion for a bond of forfeit posted by each team to guarantee their appearances at the games was ruled out.

It was definitely decided to fix umpires' salaries at $2.50 a week as a minimum for each official. Days for the National league games were set for Tuesdays and Fridays to begin not earlier than 8:30 P. M. to allow opportunity to any sponsor who might wish to hold a preliminary contest. A thirty minute period of grace was allowed teams absent.

sent at the scheduled time, giving them opportunity to notify the host team reasons for any possible delay. Failure to do this in the 30 minute time limit would cause an automatic forfeiture of the contest. It was also agreed that teams use shoes with rubber cleats.

The season will open Tuesday, May 14, and schedules will be framed by that date.

Nature Checkmates Dixon Teams With Dose of Snowstorm

Inclement weather, today, threatened postponement of all games this week.

Mother Nature placed a trump card of her own on the table today by ordering a portion of rain mixed with snow to further dampen the ardor of sport fans in Dixon. The local high school golf team was forced to postpone indefinitely its match with Sterling Township high at Plum Hollow Wednesday and yesterday Princeton cancelled the track meet with Dixon that was to have been run in Princeton.

Whether or not the Dixon trackers will make the trip to Clinton, Ia., for the Gateway Classic and also whether or not the weekend baseball games will be played de-

When Jack Torrance, Louisiana State shot putter, breaks records, he isn't content with inches. Big Torrance stopped up in the putting ring at the Penn Relays and broke the world 12-pound shot standard by more than a foot and a half, registering 62 feet 3/4 inch, against his old record of 60 feet 5 1/2 inches. MANY women middle-aged suffer from periodic pains in side or back—from headache, "heat flashes," they should take that vegetable tonic favorably known for sixty years as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Read this: Mrs. Helen Ruth Ward, c/o 1008 Maroon Ave., S.W. Canton, Ohio, said: "I felt weak and sick all over. I couldn't sleep or eat. My stomach felt upset all the time, and I had dizzy headaches. A friend advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. One bottle made me feel so different, I gained in weight, and my appetite improved."

Traveling Around America

A FISHING FLIGHT

THERE are few places left on the globe where fish can really relax and feel secure. Even the most distant and inaccessible of their hideouts are now brought by airplane and fast ocean liner within easy reach of the sportsman. The fishing flight illustrated above which resulted in a gorgeous catch of unusually large Rainbow trout was staged in Chile, South America, with Thomas Eastman and David Dow, well-known New York sportsmen, as the successful anglers.

The waters off the coast of Chile have long been noted as rich game-fish areas. Some of the country's inland lakes are coming to the front as freshwater fishing fields. Villarica, a lake in southern Chile, in particular, has become such a paradise for the angler that regular excursions from Santiago to Villarica are featured in connection with the new 39-day de Luxe cruises from New York to Chile. One and a half days' fishing in Villarica Lake recently netted a party of four fishermen one hundred and thirty Rainbow trout such as is shown here, averaging from three to five pounds.

ASHTON NEWS

Ashton—Mr. and Mrs. George B. Garrett entertained at dinner Sunday at their home, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McBride and Mr. and Mrs. John French of Paw Paw who were also callers at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Peters Sunday afternoon.

On Saturday evening at 7 o'clock at the Lutheran parsonage Miss Myrtle Reitz, daughter of John A. Reitz became the bride of Paul Messer, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Messer, Rev. F. W. Henke officiating with the impressive ring ceremony. The couple were attended by Miss Cora Foster, friend of the bride and Leo Messer, brother of the groom.

The bride was charming in a gown of powder blue crepe and the bridesmaid wore a gown of light pink crepe. The groom was attired in a suit of oxford grey.

Mr. and Mrs. Messer departed for a short wedding trip and upon their return will be at home at the home of the bride's father, John A. Reitz.

The three organizations of the local high school which will participate in the Illinois State Music and Literary contest to be held at the state teachers College at Normal Saturday are putting forth faithful efforts in final preparation for the event.

The high school orchestra under the direction of Herman O'May, and the Boys' Glee club and mixed chorus directed by Miss Muriel Yenerich are the three groups entering the state contest having won first places at the district contest held at DeKalb three weeks ago.

Both school buses will be used to take the pupils to Normal Saturday morning where the Boys' Glee club will sing at 9 o'clock. The orchestra will play at 1 o'clock and the mixed chorus will sing at 2 o'clock. These groups will meet competition from all sections of Illinois and it is hopefully anticipated that they may again return from the state contest with honors.

At the Illinois State Music contest sponsored by the universities of the country at Chicago Heights Saturday, Miss Jean Root, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Root, was chosen by three judges as the outstanding winner of first place in the first group of eight out of 24 contestants in violin solo. This qualifies Miss Jean to represent Illinois in the National Music contest to be held at Madison, Wis., May 16, 17 and 18.

The comments of the judges upon her work were highly complimentary to Miss Jean's persistent efforts in the preparation of her number, and also reflected much credit upon her instructor, Prof. Orville Westor of Dixon, and upon her accompanist, Miss Frances Jennings, whose exceptional ability as pianist contributed immeasurably to the excellency of her accomplishment.

The Ashton high school orchestra under the talented direction of Herman O'May also entered this contest, and, although by far the smallest organization of the six orchestras entered in class C, won second place in group 2. The Ashton orchestra, composed of 22 pieces played in competition with orchestras from Evanston, Maywood and Chicago Heights of 96, 70 and 60 pieces, and with Barrington and Geneva, both much larger in number.

Although not privileged to enter the national contest the young people have the honor and satisfaction of having performed in a manner meriting the sincere praise accorded them.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schafer and Miss Leota Romann were entertained Sunday at the home of Mrs. Schafer's brother, Harry F. John-

How accessory ensembles set off the simplest sort of costume is shown here in the outfit Lady Hubert Wilkins, actress and wife of the Arctic explorer, wears at a society party in New York. son and family at Northbrook. On Sunday afternoon they attended the Evangelical conference in session at Highland Park and were accompanied home by Rev. Johnson who had the past week been in attendance at the conference.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Obourn will be guests over Friday night at the home of his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Obourn at Normal and will attend the state musical contest on Saturday. Sunday they will visit at the home of Mr. Obourn's mother, Mrs. M. M. Obourn at Decatur.

Charles A. Bancroft, founder of the Ashton Gazette 40 years ago, and Mrs. Bancroft, formerly Miss Cora John, who have been visiting Ashton friends the past week left Monday morning for their home in El Monte, Calif.

The Ashton Cemetery association has elected as its officers for the coming year: John J. Wagner, president; Edgar C. Shippee, vice president and superintendent; Miss Mary E. Charters, secretary and Ralph J. Dean, treasurer. John A. Wagner was retained as sexton for the coming year.

The large auditorium of the M. E. church was well filled at the morning worship service Sunday when the pastor, Rev. L. E. Winter, delivered a very forceful and impressive sermon on "Ultimate Values." Special music of the service included a beautiful tenor solo, "Prepare Ye the Way" sung by A. M. Rawls of Chicago and the lovely anthem, "Oh! Worship the King" by the large church choir.

The Ashton band directed by Herman O'May has been having regular weekly practices this spring and has in the past month made rapid progress in the interpretation of the new music which has been purchased. They will be well prepared for their public appearance by concert time. The band consists of over 30 members and while some changes will probably be made before concert time, the personnel of the band at present is as follows:

Cornet—Ralph Cross, Joy Sandrock, Madeline Cleary, Harold Hensert, Robert Rosecrans, Richard Bailey.
Clarinet—Harold Boyer, Dorothy Dean, Edward Wolfe, Martha Mall, Evelyn Semmler, Edward Peters, Norma Jenkins, Marie Wallace, Billy Bailey.

Mrs. Frank Howard led the devotions and Mrs. Charles Vogler presented the topic. Mrs. Lillian Vogel conducted the mystery box.

AMUSEMENTS

MARJORIE LYTELL

Leading Woman
"Three Men on a Horse" Company now playing at the Harris Theatre, Chicago

"THREE MEN ON A HORSE"
The laughing byword of Chicago right now is the enormously successful "Three Men on a Horse," the prize winning stage comedy which prances along merrily at the Harris Theatre. According to Chas.
Collins, veteran drama critic of the Chicago Tribune, "this is the funniest show in years." Lloyd Lewis, of the Chicago Daily News, and a most interesting writer in a feature article recently said:

"On New Year's Day, last, 'Three Men on a Horse' was just another show getting ready for Broadway.
It opened—a hit. Then came the Chicago company—another hit—and now the announcement from Alex Yoke! that a third company of 'Three Men on a Horse' which right now is the money-winning comedy of the year. Three companies, and soon a fourth, as well as a London unit, which Yoke! will do with Gilbert Miller. The Los Angeles company will open at the Biltmore Theatre to keep pace with the racing season before May is out.

"At this rate of production 'Three Men on a Horse' is fast becoming an industry. Not since the boom days of the 1920's has the legitimate stage boasted of a hit with four or more companies, let alone two that thrived."

Ashton Stevens, famed critic of the Chicago American raves about the Chicago company of "Three Men on a Horse." He says further
"Here is a comedy of a type that has come down through many ages of theatrical history without ever getting out of fashion. It is based on an ingenious idea that appeals to men and women alike—a fantastic way of getting money for nothing."

VIOLA CENTER

Viola Center—Ruth Newhausen of Amboy spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. John Bodmer.

The Montavon brothers, Howard Ackland and Leo Bresson are owners of new John Deere tractors.

The Van Petten school taught by Mrs. Arlene Walters closed Saturday with a picnic for the district and friends numbering about 60 were present. Many former pupils of the teacher were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Chaon and daughter Betty Lou attended the theater in Mendota Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Amil Bresson of Ashton visited relatives here Monday.

In a recent Paw Paw news item
it was stated that Miss Hazel Eden's pupil, Miss Kaiser received the highest average at the Paw Paw finals for the rural schools. This was a mistake as Bertha E. Bresson's pupil, Joseph Herman received the highest with an average of 97 1/2, Miss Kaiser's average being 97 1/2.

MAKING SWISS CHEESE

It takes 30 pounds of milk to make two pounds of Swiss cheese.
The "eyes" in the cheese are caused by the introduction of pure culture of bacteria or yeasts. During part of the long curing period, placing the cheese in a warm temperature causes a gas to form and the eyes to "grow". When these have formed the cheese is returned to the cooling room for further ripening and aging.

Culinary Jingles
by Marcia Camp

There used to be a beaten track
Down to the corner store and back From Junior's running hard and fast.

To buy the cream for some repeat.
Now when dessert time comes around.

Junior's in the kitchen found.
Watching with two greedy eyes
Mother's newest marlow's prize.

ARE YOU one of those women who stopped freezing your own ice cream in your own refrigerator because even the corner drug store could make ice cream that was creamier—without using cream at all? If so, you have a big surprise waiting for you when you take your first marlow's out of its freezing tray!

It's called a marlow, you must know, because it has marshmallows for a base. Marshmallows steamed until they are liquid, with that indescribably velvety smoothness which you could guess would defy crystallization in the freezing process. Your cream would be right, too, for no marlow has ever been known to lie down on the job by turning to a mass of little ice crystals after the disconcerting fashion of ordinary mechanical-refrigerator ice creams.

The marshmallows take the place of the sugar in your recipe, so there is nothing to crystallize. Only the pure gelatine base of the marshmallow itself, which not only prevents crystallization but gives an unbeatable smoothness to the finished product, without the slightest trace of a marshmallow flavor. And best of all, the whole process is accomplished absolutely without stirring! When you have turned the marlow mixture into the refrigerator tray and set the cold control, you can leave the rest to the refrigerator. Make your ice cream the day before you want to use it if you like; the marlow positively thrives on standing.

If it sounds miraculous and slightly gregating between 100 to 400 pounds annually.

DATE PALM GOOD PRODUCER

The date palm is noted for its fecundity. From about its sixth year until past its hundredth, it bears great clusters of dates, agincalculable, just try this simplest of all marlows. Get a package of marshmallows, grind on your favorite apron, and prepare to be pleasantly surprised.

yes, cancel that order. I'm making it
at home.

30 marshmallows 1/2 pint cream,
1 cup milk stiffly beaten
1 lb. vanilla

VANILLA MARLOW

Steam the marshmallows and mill in a double boiler until the marshmallows are perfectly liquid and blended with the milk. Add the vanilla and cool. When the mixture is quite cold and beginning to stiffen fold in the cream. Pour into refrigerator trays and freeze without stirring.

You need to remember just two secrets to make your first marlow a complete success. First, always melt the marshmallows thoroughly. You can shorten the melting time by cutting them into bits with scissors dipped in hot water. Second, let the marshmallow foundation stiffen slightly before adding the cream—which, by the way, may be coffee cream, but must be beaten stiff. It more convenient, use an ice cream freezer without agitating. You can also use a mold, packed in salt and ice. The mold must have a tightly fitting cover, sealed with adhesive tape.

SUGAR BEETS IN

EXTREME SOUTH

The sugar beet requires a temperate climate and climatic condition in the extreme south. Sugar beets will grow, but in a warm climate the tops continue their vegetation growth too long and the roots do not ripen off so as to give the proper sugar content. There is also more likelihood of attack by disease.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MILICENT GRAVES, secretary to GEORGE DRIMGOLD. And her employer in his office dead. JARVIS HAP, a stranger, offers to help her. He sends her to a beauty shop where she is transformed into a beauty, then takes her home, introducing her as his secretary. She meets HAP's son, NORMAN, his stepson, ROBERT CAISE; MISS HAP, DICK GENTRY HAP's mother; VERA DUCHENE, Mrs. HAP's maid.

In HAP's home Millicent sees the mysterious woman in black, whom she believes has some connection with Drimgold's death.

The chauffeur is found dead. Later HAP is kidnapped.

Millicent and Norman learn the car driven by the woman in black belongs to PHYLLIS FAULCONER. They go to her apartment and find the missing suitcase of books, showing a shortage of $200,000 in Gentry's accounts.

Millicent and Norman leave and later return. Norman goes in first. When he does not reappear Millicent enters. The place is in wild disorder. A policeman arrives. Millicent escapes.

She goes to a nearby garage, asks to see Phyllis Faulconer's car and goes to the second floor. She gets in the car and someone grabs her arm.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLIV

MILICENT'S scream was swallowed up in the vast emptiness of the dark concrete room with its parked automobiles gloomy, sinister and silent, as sole witness to that which was taking place.

The man's hand that had clutched her shoulder held her in a vice-like grip. She screamed again, clawed at the man's wrist, and Norman Hap had disappeared, and

She tried to bite but could not get her teeth around far enough to catch the wrist. She felt the man's other hand clamp about her own wrist, suddenly felt the bite of steel and heard the ominous click of handcuffs.

"You're under arrest, Phyllis Faulconer," a man's voice said "and anything you say will be used against you."

Half an hour before the sound of the voice would have filled Millicent with dread. Now she gave a quick gasp of relief. The voice was that of Detective Buchanan.

She whirled around in the seat. "You!" she exclaimed.

Detective Buchanan moved with deft skill, pinioned her other wrist, snapped the other wristlet of steel about it.

"It happens," he said, "that I'm Detective Buchanan from headquarters. I've been trailing you for some little time. Let's have a look at you and see if you're the same person I think you are."

Her eyes were blinded by the sudden glitter of a flashlight. She heard Buchanan's exclamation. "Good heavens!" he said, "So you're Phyllis Faulconer!"

 "No I'm not."

HE laughed sarcastically and said, "You can do a lot of explaining, young lady, before you talk yourself out of this mess. I know for quite a while that Phyllis Faulconer must be someone who had access to the Hap residence, but I'll admit that you certainly had me fooled. That trick of yours of giving Sergeant Mahoney the Hap's number of your own automobile was one of the cleverest dodges I have ever known in all my years of trailing crooks. You certainly pulled a fast one."

"I suppose you thought he couldn't remember the license number of the automobile, but that's where he fooled you. He's trained himself to remember license numbers. Later on he pretended that he'd only partially remembered the number, transposing the figures and asking questions of everyone so that the real owner would figure he was hot on the trail and try to dispose of the automobile or conceal it somewhere."

"When he figured he had the trap sufficiently baited he made arrangements with the garage man to say nothing, but let me watch the car."

"No, no!" she said. "You're making a mistake. I swear I'm not Phyllis Faulconer. I'm trying to trail Miss Faulconer. I found out where she lives. I figured she must keep her car here. I made inquiries downstairs. You can prove it by the night man."

"I'm sorry," he told her, "that I can't believe you. Phyllis Faulconer is a very mysterious person. She keeps her car here and maintains an apartment at 3829 Baronne avenue. Once or twice a month she takes her car out. No one seems to know very much about her or what she looks like."

"But I'm not Phyllis Faulconer. I can prove it to you. I tell you I'm trying to trail her, and Norman Hap has disappeared, and

"What's that?" he asked sharply. "Norman Hap," she said. "He's disappeared."

"Just what do you mean by that?"

HE went up to try to cross-question Phyllis Faulconer in her apartment. I was with him—that is, I waited outside in the taxicab. I can take you to the cab driver and prove it. And something happened to Norman. The apartment was in an awful mess. There had been a fight and there were blood stains."

"Blood stains?" he asked.

"Yes." The detective gave a low whistle and said, "You're telling me news, if it's true."

"But it is true. I can prove it—every word of it. The cab driver is still waiting in front of the apartment house."

"Wait a minute," Buchanan said slowly. "Norman Hap went to the apartment. You knew he was going. Is that right?"

"Yes, of course. I went with him."

"Yes, I believe you told me that before. And you waited down in the taxicab while he went up to the apartment. Is that right?"

"Yes."

He laughed significantly and said, "That simply clinches the case against you. You're clever enough to have arranged it just that way while you telephoned your accomplices to take care of Norman when he came to the apartment."

Millicent lost her temper.

"As a detective," she said, "you're a frost! I love Norman Hap. I tell you I love him! I love the ground he walks on. I love every hair of his head! If you want to know, Norman Hap asked me to marry him tonight and I was never so happy in my life."

There was sudden doubt in Detective Buchanan's voice.

"Asked you to marry him?" he inquired.

"Yes."

DETECTIVE BUCHANAN remained silent for a moment while he seemed to be deliberating. Suddenly the beam of the flashlight moved down to the purse which lay in Millicent's lap.

"I'm just going to check up on this story," he said.

"Go ahead," she told him.

He took the purse in his hands, snapped open the catch, let the beam of the flashlight play upon its contents while he said musically, "Phyllis Faulconer—I wonder if your story is true. I hope it is. I wanted to believe you. I would have sworn that it was another who . . ."

He took a folded paper from her purse.

"What's this?" he asked.

Her eyes, blinded by the flashlight, failed to recognize the paper. She saw only the glitter of the light from a folded square of paper. "I don't know what it is," she said.

He unfolded the paper, and she would have given much to have recalled her words, for suddenly she recognized it.

At that moment Detective Buchanan gave a low, taunting laugh. "Oh," he said, "so you don't recognize it, eh?"

She made some stammering attempt at speech, but Buchanan interrupted her, reading in a slow, mocking tone of voice the contents of the letter that she had taken from Phyllis Faulconer's apartment.

When she had first seen that letter she hadn't appreciated how utterly damaging it would be to found in her possession. Now, as she heard Buchanan's voice making a damning accusation of every sentence, a black despair engulfed her.

"YOU'VE GOT TO DITCH THE CAR, SERGEANT MAHONEY HAS THE LICENSE NUMBER. HE'S GOT IT TWISTED. BUT IT WON'T BE LONG UNTIL HE GETS THE RIGHT NUMBER. I TRIED TO GET A CHANCE TO TALK WITH YOU BUT THEY WERE WATCHING ME TOO CLOSELY AND I DON'T WANT THEM TO SUSPECT YOU. SO FAR YOU'RE ABSOLUTELY ABOVE SUSPICION."

"NO ONE SUSPECTS ANYTHING UNLESS IT'S THE GIRL I'M GOING TO TAKE CARE OF HER. WHAT'S MORE, I'M GOING TO GET THAT NOTEBOOK—THE ONE THAT CONTAINS DRIMGOLD'S CONFESSIO. THAT WILL CLEAN UP THE LAST PIECE OF EVIDENCE. YOU DITCH THE CAR. LEAVE THE GIRL TO ME—BOB."

Hist! Something's Afoot

Logically, perhaps, this charming sunner at the Roney Plaza Cabana Sun Club in Miami, Fla., should be using a taupe colored polish to decorate her toes, but she's reported to have launched a new vogue for black nails. Maybe she was a late sleeper and took this means for insuring that she wouldn't entirely miss the morning.

"LEFT-WINGERS" MEET TOMORROW TO TALK COURSE

While Huey Long Continues Attack on "Saint Vitus Dance" Govt.

Washington, May 3.—(AP)—With Senator Long (D-La.) again assailing the Roosevelt administration, half-a-hundred or more left-wing leaders headed for a conference here tomorrow to decide whether the time is ripe for a national third party movement.

Some of the rallying ultra-liberals appeared inclined to look upon the Louisiana dictator as a possible ally although feeling that his program does not go far enough.

The call for the conference—issued by four congressmen and Howard Y. Williams, National Farmer-Labor party organizer, among others—added to the political speculation that is plentiful here.

Long attacked the administration once more as "The St. Vitus Dance Government" in a radio speech last night.

He suggested that congress might well "contract with Mr. Vincent Astor and his $5,000,000 yacht, not only to take the president out in the British waters to fish for a few weeks, but to keep him there several months and trust to luck the country would find its way back to normalcy."

Refers to Fireside Chat.

The senator divided his address between thrusts at Roosevelt and advocacy of his own "Share-Our-Wealth" plan. He suggested that his listeners send telegrams to their senators, asking them to back the Roosevelt-opposed Patman bill to pay the soldiers' bonus with new currency.

Referring to the president's address of last Sunday night, Long said:

"Our president, the Knight of the Nourmahal, says we are confused because we cannot see just how this thing is going to look when he gets through making it."

"Why, to be sure. All those millions of hogs they killed; all those cattle they shot down; the milk they poured into the rivers with the people starving for it; all the cotton they plowed under and wool that they burned up with the people naked because they could not get it; none of us can see just how that is working out."

Featherweights Matched For Ten Round Battle

Chicago, May 3.—(AP)—Leonard Del Genio, one of the better young New York lightweights, and Babe Daniek of Minneapolis have been matched for a ten-round bout at the Chicago stadium May 10. The bout will be one of four-ten-rounders planned by watchmakers Nate Lewis and Jim Mullen, two of which are yet to be signed. One will bring together Mike Belouse and New York featherweight, and Jimmy Christy of Chicago.

Hamilton House at Lyndon Erected Century Ago; Last of Family Is Present Owner

Builder Stayed Here When Dixon Was a Single Cabin

Lyndon—If boards could talk, the native hardwood slabs in Mrs. Louis Hamilton Smith's house at Hamilton Grove corners, near Deniro, no doubt could tell a strange story. A century of time has rolled around since her grandfather, one of the first settlers of Whiteside county, erected that structure to shelter his family, of which Mrs. Smith now is the last surviving member.

It was May 11, 1835, that the Hamilton family, the W. D. Dudley family and the C. G. Woodruff family left their homes in New York state and started for the (then) "far west," to find new homes. Each family had a team of horses and a wagon, and it took them just a month to reach Chicago. When they pulled into that city they had the misfortune to get mired in front of one of the leading hotels, and they had to secure services of a team of four horses before they could get out of the mud.

From Chicago, they drove to Plainfield, in Will county. There the womenfolk stopped, while the men, Mr. Dudley, Mr. Hamilton and son John, and Mr. Woodruff, went on to investigate conditions.

Lost in Swamp

They reached Rock river at Dixon, which at that time consisted of a single log house. They wished to go down Rock river to Prophetstown, but they were told to go two miles south on the Peoria road, turn to the right and follow an Indian trail, which would lead them to their destination.

They started, following the directions, but when they had gone two miles or more they still had not reached the Indian trail. They did, however, come upon a new trail, which they followed into the Winnebago swamps, where they became lost.

The next day, a Saturday, they decided to go straight north until they struck Rock river. With the aid of a pocket compass, they set out. Evening came, and they had not found the river. They camped for the night, and found themselves in such a cloud of mosquitoes they had to build smudge fires with prairie sod to protect themselves from the pests.

They remained in camp all day Sunday, but started out again early the next morning. Near evening they reached Rock river near Prophetstown. There they found one old settler, Asa Crook, who had been there since the previous year. They were his guests a day or two, after which they poled across the river in his ferry boat.

Claim Timber, Prairie

Then they went through the Ox Bow, walking through tall prairie grass until they came to the bluff ten or twelve rods west of the Prophetstown road. There they camped until the next day, when they went north into the Rock creek timber, which they claimed. They also claimed the prairie between the timber and their camp. The next day they went southwest, down into what they called the Big Woods, and they also claimed it, and the prairie between that timber and their camp, holding this claim for their friends.

The men then built a shanty, twelve feet square, of poles, with a roof of hay, but without a floor. When the house was completed, Mr. Hamilton and Mr. Dudley went back to Plainfield for their women-folk.

MAKING GLASS WINDOW PANES

Glass panes for windows are made by dipping a horizontal metal rod below the surface of the molten glass and raising it upward. The glass adheres to it and is drawn out in the form of a sheet. Plate glass, which must be free from bubbles and surface imperfections, is made by pouring molten glass on a flat surface, rolling it into shape, cooling and appealing it, and then carefully grinding and polishing the surface.

Referee for Thirty Years Retires To PWA Duties Today

Washington, May 3.—(AP)—A chunky little man who has rushed along behind the play on football fields throughout the nation for 30 years will be missing next fall.

Col. Horatio B. Hackett, one of the oldest gridiron officials in point of service, has refereed his last contest.

A high regard for the reputation he has built and the press of his duties as director of housing, public works emergency housing corporation, are the twin causes of his retirement.

"I can't think of housing problems for six days a week and then swap for the complexities of football on Saturday afternoons," he said today.

Hackett was the first plebe to make a West Point varsity football team—in 1900. Since then he has seen most of the great teams in action.

BOY WIZARD OF FINANCE FREED IN FRAUD CASE

Government is Defeated Again in Chicago Federal Court Trial

Chicago, May 3.—(AP)—Frank P. Parish, "the boy wizard of finance," was freed today of the charge that he used the mails to defraud in promoting the Missouri-Kansas Pipeline Company, a $35,000,000 enterprise which toppled into financial ruin.

"I am vindicated as I expected to be," Parish said when a federal court jury returned a verdict last night, acquitting him and his co-defendant, Samuel J. Maddin, former vice-president of the Farish concern, after less than five hours of deliberation, including an hour and a half for dinner.

"I'm grateful, and I will continue my efforts in behalf of the Missouri-Kansas Company," Parish added. He smiled broadly when the verdict was read.

"Missouri-Kansas will be back on its feet and a going concern within ninety days," was the comment of Maddin.

But Three Ballots

But three ballots were required by the jurors in Federal Judge John P. Barnes' court to acquit the pair, and thereby add another defeat to the government's attempt to win mail fraud convictions in Chicago during the past year. The jury received the case at 2:26 P. M. (Central Standard Time) and returned its verdict at 10:39. There was some delay before the verdict was announced because Judge Barnes could not be immediately located.

Judge Barnes had given the jurors instructions similar to those received in the case of Samuel L. Sullivan, Sr., who was recently acquitted on a charge of mail fraud.

"Good faith," the court said, was a good defense, and intent to defraud would have to be proved before a verdict of conviction could be returned.

CHILD MALNUTRITION

The fear of underfeeding its children is haunting the conscience of the nation. An editorial in a leading British medical journal begins a discussion on "What is Malnutrition?" with this forceful statement:

Britain has been suffering depression for a longer period than the United States. More families have for longer periods been on relief. As a result the British experience in dealing with malnutrition is in certain ways more expert than ours.

And yet, in England, as here, we find it extremely difficult to define just what malnutrition is. We cannot judge nutrition according to standard tables of height, weight and age. One child may be perceptibly thin and yet not in any way badly nourished, while another child may be quite fat and yet suffer from scurvy.

The time when body bulk, that is weight, was considered a dependable index to nutrition is long past. Today we understand that nutrition has many phases, and the diet of a child may be adequate in some respects and inadequate in others. Furthermore, malnutrition may

WOMEN IN GOVERNMENT SERVICE

The United States Congress passed an act July 12, 1870, which provided that "women may in the discretion of the head of any department, be appointed to any of the clerkships therein authorized by law, upon the same requisites and conditions, and with the same compensations, as are prescribed for men."

mean mineral starvation, vitamin starvation, protein starvation, fat starvation, or something else.

With all these difficulties besetting us when we attempt to define malnutrition in precise terms, there still remains this pertinent fact which as the editorial expresses, is too obvious to need elaboration: "Even without a clinical examination, it may be safely assumed that a child is malnourished if he is receiving an obviously inadequate diet."

Poverty undoubtedly has much to do with nutrition, growth, etc., but economics in terms of money is not all that there is to the matter of malnutrition. Our knowledge on nutrition has increased enormously in recent years.

Wisdom in dietetics must be exercised by the individual in his own behalf, for this is one realm where little can be done for him. Hence it is incumbent upon us to know how and what to eat.

Chicago, May 3.—(AP)—A few snarls and growls every day may be the way of promotion and pay for American Association ball players.

While Thomas Jefferson Hickey, president of the league, doesn't advocate trading punches at every opportunity or using spikes as weapons, he agrees with Donie Bush, manager of the Minneapolis club, that there is too much friendliness among enemy players. Bush devoted a part of an idle day at Kansas City yesterday lamenting that "feeling of friendship" has invaded the game.

"I not only don't object to players snarling at each other, but I like it," Hickey said. "I see no reason for friendliness on the field. They are not out there to form friendships, but to win games. Aggressiveness helps win games. The snarling player usually is an aggressive player."
